Students in the PhD Program in Rehabilitation Science are expected to participate in the teaching of at least one course (Handbook of the PhD Program in Rehabilitation Sciences). This requirement can be met by teaching the equivalent of at least a one-credit course (15 hours of contact) while enrolled as a PhD student. The Academic Advisor of the student is responsible for ensuring that this requirement is met and for certifying this by filling out and submitting this form.

Student’s Name: ___________________________________________

Student’s PeopleSoft ID:_________________________________

Teaching Experience:

Course name: __________________________________________

Course number: ________________________________________

Department: __________________________________________

Date of Course: ________________________________________

Credit Hours of Responsibility: ____________________________

Type of Teaching (Lecturer, Lab Assistant, Primary Instructor, etc.):

_____________________________________________________

Faculty member coordinating course: _______________________

Faculty Coordinator’s signature: __________________________

Academic Advisor: (Printed Name): ________________________

Academic Advisor: Signature: ____________________________

Date: _______________