

SHRS Travel Grant Program for Graduate Students

About the Program

The objective of this program is to provide financial assistance to graduate students at SHRS to attend academic and professional conferences or workshops. The SHRS Travel Grant Program is funded by graduate student activity fees and is administered by the Executive Board of the SHRS Student Advisory Board.

Eligibility Criteria and Guidelines

1. Applicants must:
 - Be currently enrolled as graduate students at the School of Health and Rehabilitation Sciences (SHRS) at the University of Pittsburgh
 - Not be receiving travel funds from another university account (i.e. research grant support, departmental funds, etc.), with the exception of funds from:
 - A student organization registered with the Student Organization Resource Center (SORC), or
 - The Graduate and Professional Student Association (GPSG) Travel Grant Program. (See instructions below to apply to both the SHRS and GPSG travel grant programs.)
2. Students are eligible to apply for one SHRS travel grant per fiscal year (July 1 – June 30) based on the date of the conference. Funds are available for a limited number of students per semester depending on the funding amounts for which the applicants are eligible. Funds will be awarded on a first-come, first-served basis. Due to limited funding, if a large number of students from a specific department apply for funding for the same conference, decisions on funding allocation may be turned over to the respective department chair or supervisor. Funding allocation may come in the form of (1) a specific number of students selected based on criteria determined by department heads or (2) all students receiving a portion of the requested funding. There is no guarantee that funds will be available in the semester in which you apply. If funds are exhausted before the end of the semester, the graduate student body will be notified via email that no additional applications will be accepted or approved in that semester.
3. We understand that a student's decision to attend a conference or workshop often depends on the on the availability of funds to support his or her travel. Students may apply for funds in advance of the conference, no sooner than 60 days prior to the conference start date. If eligibility criteria are met and funds are available, students will receive conditional approval for a travel grant award. Travel funds will not be disbursed until after the student returns from the conference and has submitted appropriate receipts and support materials. Please note that no applications will be accepted after the student returns from the conference or workshop.

4. See the “Type of Participation” table on the application form for the types of events that qualify for funding, required documentation, and the maximum amount of funding offered for each category.
5. Internships, fieldwork, job fairs, and dissertation research do not qualify for funding through the SHRS Travel Grant Program.
6. Incomplete or ineligible applications will not be processed.

Graduate and Professional Student Association (GPSG) Travel Grant Program

In addition to the SHRS Travel Grant Program, funds for travel are available through the Graduate and Professional Student Association (GPSG) Travel Grant Program. Students may apply to SHRS only, to both SHRS and GPSG, or only to GPSG, depending on their eligibility. The eligibility criteria and applications for the two programs differ, so it is important to review all information prior to completing your application(s). While SHRS Travel grant applications are accepted either before or after conference attendance, GPSG application are only accepted BEFORE attending the conference.
